Coriendol Teams with IBM and Fannie Mae for Web Cast on E-Mortgages

Bala Cynwyd, PA – November 2, 2005 -- Coriendol Loan Solutions announced today that it has teamed up with IBM and Fannie Mae to present a web cast on the current and future state of E-Mortgages. The web cast is directed at mortgage bankers, mortgage brokers, and related organizations involved in the financing of home mortgages. The web cast is scheduled for November 10, 2005 at 1:00PM, Eastern Standard Time.

The web cast will spotlight the recent progress which has been made in developing the technology that now makes E-Mortgages practical and affordable, and within reach of thousands of mortgage organizations. Glenn Goldberg will present the Business Process Management solutions from Coriendol; Mark Oliphant, Director of Fannie Mae's E-Mortgage program will provide an overview of the recent efforts by the mortgage industry to move toward implementing a digital mortgage process; and IBM's representative, Kathy Cacciatore, will discuss the server and operational infrastructure requirements needed to deliver the E-Mortgage solution.

Participation in the web cast is free of charge, but does require registration. For registration details please visit www.coriendol.com.

About Coriendol Loan Solutions

Coriendol Loan Solutions, www.coriendol.com, based near Philadelphia, helps mortgage companies reduce costs and improve their operations. We use Enj, an award-winning business process management software, to map, configure, and automate mortgage business processes, and when appropriate, we can also provide cost-saving process management services. The Coriendol Loan Solutions suite of products helps mortgage bankers and brokers write more loans, process them more quickly and provide their staff and customers with real-time access to loan status all the way from origination to secondary marketing to servicing. These products are available "a la carte" or as a complete solution.
